

MAXIMUM COACHING'S CERTIFIED COACH TRAINING PROGRAMME

LONDON | AUTUMN 2018 & SPRING 2019

DO YOU WANT TO TAKE YOUR COACHING TO THE NEXT LEVEL?

Train with an outstanding coaching team led by Elizabeth Crosse MCC, build your professional coaching career, work towards your coaching credential with the internationally recognised International Coach Federation (ICF) and have the option of picking up the ILM Level 7 qualification along the way.

This programme is approved by the ICF for 60 hours of coach specific training.

OVERVIEW

Our comprehensive programme gives you the knowledge, skills and experience to enable you to build the type of coaching relationships that deliver real value to your clients.

At the end of your training you will discover 'who you are as a coach' and have the confidence to develop your practice in a way that aligns with your style, skills and experience.

Our expert coaching programme gives you 60 hours of coach-specific training, made up of:

- 56 hours classroom time with the trainer
- 4 hours self-directed study

And 10 hours coach mentoring, made up of:

- 7 hours group coach mentoring
- 3 hours one-to-one coach mentoring

And a recommendation of a minimum of 12 hours coaching with at least two volunteer clients.

During the eight days of face-to-face training, you will:

- Learn the distinction between coaching and other interventions
- Appreciate the importance of robust contacting and the impact of the ICF Code of Ethics on your coaching
- Be introduced to a range of coaching models, skills and techniques encompassing the eleven ICF Core Coaching Competencies
- Discover how to apply professional coaching skills to develop your own coaching style

FORMAT

Each module contains a minimum of two coaching skills practice sessions where you will take the role of coach, client and observer. You'll have ample opportunity to observe coaching in action, practise and get feedback on your use of these skills. These sessions are observed by credentialled coaches and this feedback enables you to benchmark your progress in demonstrating the required level of competence at ACC level.

The focus is on active learning, involving group discussion, skills practise and practical exercises, and is split over:

- 4 separate modules
- 2 group coach mentoring sessions
- 3 one-to-one coach mentoring sessions and
- a minimum of 12 hours coaching with at least two volunteer clients

Self-directed study takes place with fellow participants, and you are advised to keep a learning journal. These activities provide the chance for additional coaching skills practice, reflection and peer feedback.

You will be required to complete 12 hours coaching with a minimum of 2 clients over the duration of the programme. These may be your own clients or individuals from our partner organisations who are looking for a coach.

ACHIEVING YOUR ICF ACC QUALIFICATION

You can be assured that we will work with you to get you in the best possible position to achieve your credential. And our coaches will be on hand to offer advice and guidance throughout your training.

Our programme is designed to meet your needs if you are committed to developing as a coach and would like the option of being credentialled by the International Coaching Federation (ICF) at ACC standard. It is written and designed by professionally trained and ICF credentialled coaches to align with the ICF's Core Competencies, standards and ethics. Your progress will be regularly reviewed throughout the programme to facilitate your learning, and support your development and credentialing path in line with ICF requirements.

On completion, a final assessment of your coaching skills will be made against the ICF Core Competencies to determine if you are demonstrating the required level of coaching competency to be successful at the ACC credentialing level. Successful demonstration of competency on completion of the programme, summary key reflections from your learning journal and presentation of your coaching framework will enable you to apply for your ACC credentialing once you have completed the 100 client coaching hours.

ILM OR ICF?

Why compromise? Do both!

Our programme, delivered by Elizabeth Crosse, prepares you for the ICF Associate Certified Coach credential. But we also offer ILM coaching qualifications, delivered by Charlie Warshawski of Love Your Coaching, an approved ILM centre. This means that we can offer participants in Elizabeth's programme the opportunity to have a separate assessment with Charlie and thereby achieve the ILM Level 7 qualification in Coaching and Mentoring without having to have any extra training days. We are the only provider offering this opportunity.

This is an optional extra. Key aspects:

- You need to complete three assignments (at 'pass' level) to secure the accreditation.
- The assignments are: an essay, a log of 20 coaching hours, a reflection on your coaching skills and style.
- You should do the assignments within 6 months of completion of module 4.
- Assignments will be marked by Charlie, moderated by his colleagues. If assignments don't meet the ILM criteria you will be given guidance for amendments. Completed assignments are only submitted to the ILM once Charlie and his team are confident that they are at 'pass' level.
- You get 12 months membership of the ILM as part of the process (giving you access to their range of online resources).
- Any coaching practice, paperwork, recordings and assignments carried out as part of your ICF credential can be re-used for the ILM qualification.
- Open-ended support from Charlie and his team to help you through the assignments.

This is an accreditation-only pathway for the ILM qualification, only open to people who have been on Elizabeth's programme. The benchmark is that you are already coaching to a good enough standard to pass the ILM programme. However, it's worth thinking about the ILM 'add-on' as another way of developing your coaching skills. We suggest that you:

- Treat all the assessments primarily as an opportunity to work on and improve your coaching skills
- Use the resources, including videos and coaching models that we provide, as an additional way to develop your coaching
- Be aware that the ILM process asks for deeper self-reflection on your coaching sessions than the ICF credential does. Use that to your advantage!

And the cost of the ILM Level 7 qualification when done this way? An additional £795 plus the ILM candidate fee (currently £179, which we administer on your behalf) plus VAT. You can sign up for the ILM 'top-up' at any stage – when you book on the ICF programme or any time before completion of module 3.

TESTIMONIALS

The programme gets great feedback, as you can see from the testimonials of recent participants:

'I have gained a great deal of practical skills and knowledge. The time between modules was appropriate and allowed time for coaching sessions in between.'

'I was fortunate to be on a coaching course with Maximum Coaching that covered a broad and challenging curriculum aligned with the ICF Coaching Competencies. I worked to gain my own coaching experience with a variety of clients. A programme of group and 1-2-1 coach mentoring wove these two learning threads together in a manner that made them greater than the sum of their parts. The discussion in these sessions encouraged a deeper consideration of my coaching practice by viewing it from the diverse perspectives of my group and our coach mentor. As a consequence, my preparation, delivery, and review of coaching has become more sophisticated and coach mentoring definitely helped in my preparation for ICF accreditation.'

'I have left absolutely wanting to embrace my learning and wanting to become the best coach I can be. Every day on the course challenged me to do things I would not normally do – I felt invigorated!'

'An excellent and extremely well-delivered programme that enabled me to quickly develop my understanding and delivery of value-adding coaching practices. I found the blend of classroom-based, content rich, presentations and practical skills practice an effective way to learn and an approach that allowed me to develop an effective coaching style in a timely and cost effective manner. Highly recommended.'

'Elizabeth's coach mentoring sessions have helped me to hold a mirror up to myself as a coach and challenge what I see, consistently increasing my awareness and self-knowledge.'

'In particular they have helped me to understand who I am as a coach, how I move beyond the problem to work with the person, and how my natural role in the drama triangle can influence my position as a coach – these reflections have persisted beyond the mentoring sessions to deepen my everyday practice, with noticeable results.

'I have grown as a coach and in other aspects of my professional life as a result of these sessions. It's a lifelong journey and this has been an insightful beginning.'
